4TH QUARTER NEWSLETTER, 2009

2009 has been an interesting year at Jones Exhaust. After some serious belt-tightening at the end of 2008, and the addition of numerous product lines during the course of the year, we have experienced a much better year than we did last year. In addition, we are seeing an increase in sales in this fourth quarter versus this time last year. So, things are truly looking up at Jones even in this difficult economy. We hope the same is true for your business.

During the course of this year, Jones has developed our Direct Flex line of application specific flex pipes with flanges welded on. We have become the master distributor of Aero Performance products east of the Mississippi River. We have introduced a quality line of stainless performance mufflers that we call Max Flow (MF). And in January, we will begin offering a limited line of hardware at very competitive prices, including southern hangers.

Tough times are rarely fun, but sometimes they are blessings in disguise. That seems to have been the case at Jones Exhaust Systems!
